When the dreams come true you feel happy. We have always wanted to organize a festival which would combine a demonstration of creative forces and sport records. Show culture can exist in any way. I dream of the beauty of yachting coming together with bell canto, wonderful singing of the opera performers with the choreography.

A dream is a mission to the future. It prepares the situation for the events following it.

The first step in this direction has already done. The Empire Russian Ballet presents the soloists of San Carlo Theatre in Russia, alongside with the Roman Highest league mini-soccer team. The realization of this idea becomes possible due to the «Italiani nel Mondo» Association, which provides political, economical and cultural relationships with different countries. We also presents our thanks to the company «Original Marines», which developing its business successfully, actively support cultural projects.

Russia and Italy are two great countries with the richest history, traditions and culture. They have so much in common.

Italy, our friend, we are happy to say hello to you!
